Nelson says cities will not lose tidelands revenues

BY TRACI BONNEY

In the ebb and flow of information about tidelands and their tax revenues, a section of law concerning the matter seems to have been overlooked, according to spokesmen from the Secretary of State's office in Jackson.

This section of law, Section 29-15-9, has been in effect since March 31, 1989. It sets up a Public Trust Tidelands Fund and states that local taxing authorities will not lose revenues from land that is deemed tideland, if a lease on the property is signed with the state.

Jim Nelson, assistant secretary of state for public lands, said the law, proposed by a tidelands commission and passed by the state legislature, contains provision for a formula that will funnel the monies from tidelands leases back to the city and county governments to reimburse them for the tax losses.

Nelson mentioned that the amount in the leases will equal that of current taxes on the properties.

In addition, local taxing authorities will be required to levy a tax on the leases, one similar to taxes on 16th Section leases. Nelson said the tax will be very slight, but it will mean some additional revenues.

This means the cities and counties will receive more money from the tidelands, Nelson said.

The Bureau of Marine Resources also receives money from the trust fund, after the local taxing authorities are reimbursed and administrative expenses are settled.

A sentence in Section 29-15-9 explains the procedure for dealing with administrative costs for the trust fund. Potentially misleading to the uninformed, it states that "funds derived from lease rentals may be used to cover the administrative cost incurred by the Secretary of State."

Nelson explained that the office already is covering those expenses with revenues from leases on properties that are not on local tax rolls, such as one for a barging operation in the Biloxi Back Bay area.

"That's just water and bay floor, so of course it isn't on tax rolls," he said.

He said this leasing system has been in operation for a year, and since administrative costs were low, "we'll be ready to cut a nice check for the BMR soon."

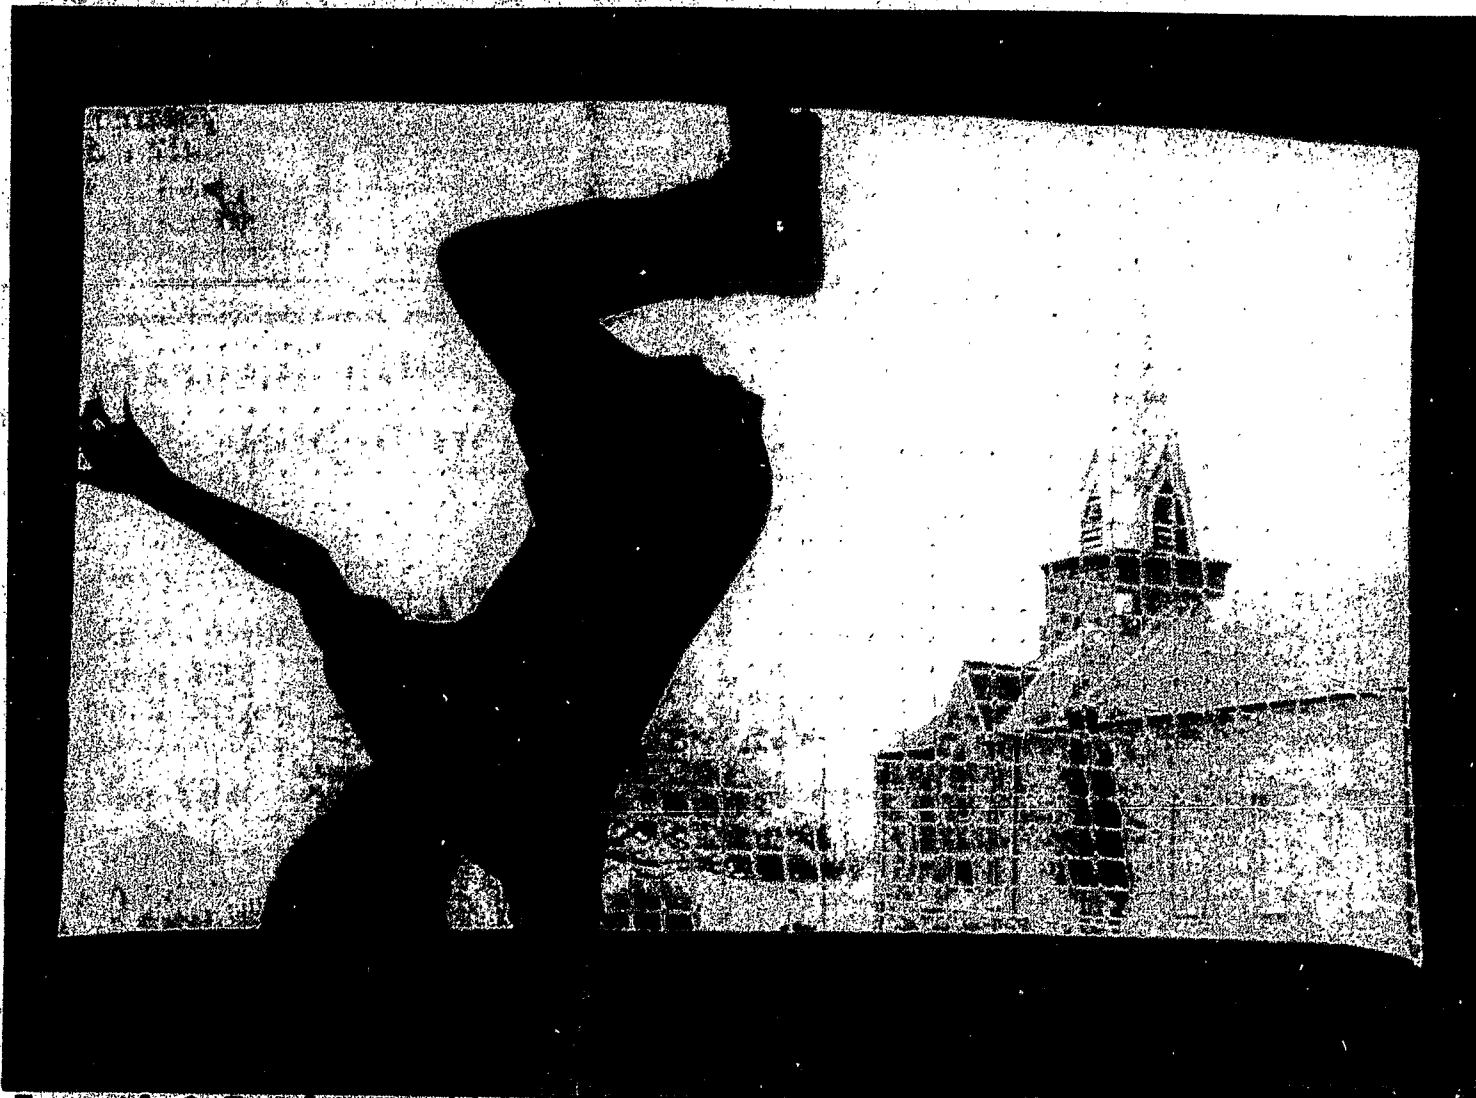

Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward A. "Eddie" Favre said he is glad to hear the city will not lose revenues from the tidelands.

"It puts the city in a much better position than we originally anticipated," he commented.

However, he added, he is not glad to hear that the city must tax the leases.

"We don't want to raise any taxes. It's not going to help those businesses if we have to put another tax on them."

Nelson said that, according to the State Tax Commission, the local taxing authorities have no "discretion" in the matter. They will be required to levy the lease taxes.

I-10 traffic delays may continue until July

Traffic delays caused by construction on Interstate 10 near the Louisiana state line may continue into July, according to Rick Turner, an assistant district engineer with the Mississippi Highway Department.

A 2.2-mile stretch is being resurfaced between the east bank of the Pearl River and the I-10 interchange with Hwy. 607, Turner said.

The project, scheduled to start in early May, was delayed until later that month. Turner said the project may not be completed until the middle of July, but officials hope for either a finish of the work or a removal of blockades by July 4.

"We thought we'd be in and out of there," he said.

Turner said motorists returning to Louisiana last weekend reported that one lane in each direction on the interstate was closed. He added that was not supposed to be the case.

Motorists going to Louisiana who wish to avoid the construction may take either U.S. 90, or state Hwy. 607 to Nicholson, where it intersects with Interstate 59.

However, the second alternative means a detour of about 30 miles.

New court date set for Gollott

A new court date of July 23 has been set for Ray Gollott, who is charged with murdering his wife in 1989.

Circuit Court Judge Costa Vlahos declared Gollott's March trial a mistrial after jurors had deliberated about three hours.

Gollott, 47, is charged with shooting to death Billie Diane Gollott, 38, at her Biloxi home May 10, 1989.

Summer jobs

Variety of occupations await students

See related story, page 2A

BY LIZ HAAS

Summertime may not be a few months of fun-in-the-sun for all Coast youths. While some teenagers and young adults decide to take the summer off to relax, others are out searching for summer jobs.

The Mississippi Employment Agency of Hancock County offers a summer youth program for individuals between the ages of 16 and 21 who come from economically disadvantaged families. The agency tries to match the individual's skills with job opportunities.

Sandra Price, employer interviewer, said the best time to apply is around spring break because most applicants should have secured a job by the time they finish the school year.

However, for specialized jobs, such as working with computers at Stennis Space Center, individuals should apply in December.

They can locate jobs in clerical labor, the medical field, welfare offices, school systems, State Parks, city labor duties and various other types of jobs.

On an average, it takes the agency approximately two to three weeks to locate a job for the individual. They place about 100 youths, but 100 more than that actually apply and are not eligible for the program's aid, either because of their age or their family's income is too high.

Price said that there is not much of a problem assisting college and high school students because they are usually not too specific about where they work or what their job responsibilities will be.

Those individuals who have already earned their degrees have more specialized career needs—making them harder to place.

Most of the youths they assist are between 17 and 20 years of age. The problem is lack of job opportunities for these people.

Price said that many of the applicants find their own jobs.

The Job Service for Stennis Space Center is a referral office that works with agencies trying to locate jobs for people. They usually hire 40 to 45 youths as summer aides in different departments.

The applicants may be placed in the cafeteria, transportation, payroll, engineering or other departments. The service screens the applicants according to what the center needs.

The Hancock County City Library in Bay St. Louis offers a program for people who are preparing to take GED (Graduate Equivalency Diploma) tests.

They offer the program to individuals who are 16 years of age or older and who need help in the basic subjects.

The library is state-funded through the JPTA (Joint Partnership Training Act). Individuals must meet the requirements of the JPTA to receive help. The program is free, however, some books may have to be purchased.

They assist individuals in the five basic subjects: reading, English, mathematics, science and social studies. The classes are held on Monday and Wednesday.

Red Cross, Legion seek blood donors

The American Red Cross and American Legion Post 139 are seeking people to be part of a special Voluntary Source Plasmapheresis (VSP) donation program June 13 at a blood drive at the Legion post on Green Meadow Road, 1 to 7 p.m.

Donors registering to give either a regular whole blood unit or a VSP donation will receive coupons for a hamburger from Burger King and a video rental from the Video Depot.

VSP donors are helping fill a growing need for blood products.

One VSP donation can help

as many as 50 patients. Plasma collected through VSP is employed in making products, used to restore blood pressure in victims of shock, trauma or burns; to assist people whose immune systems are unable to fight everyday diseases; and to control and prevent bleeding in people with hemophilia A.

In VSP donation, a disposable collection set, which includes a sterile needle, centrifuge, cell reservoir and tubing, is used for each donor.

Blood is drawn into the VSP machine, where plasma is separated from red cells. As the plasma is filtered, the red cells are held in a reservoir.

When the reservoir is full, the pumps reverse and replace the red cells, through the same needle.

Ideal candidates for VSP donations are those with type A positive blood, "good veins" and no history of difficulty during blood donations.

VSP donors must pass the same health screening and meet the same criteria that whole blood donors do. In addition, a lymph gland examination is performed by a specially trained registered nurse.

Because VSP donors spend more time on the donor bed, they will be expressed through their medical check points. This "VSP express lane" should insure that time spent at the blood drive shouldn't be much longer than that in a normal whole blood donation, which is about an hour.

Anyone interested in becoming a VSP donor during the American Legion Drive should schedule an appointment by calling John Rutherford at 467-4244.

All donors must be at least 17 years old, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health.

Donors can give blood every 56 days.

Diverse occupations await area teenagers

BY LIZ HAAS

Many youths don't bother going through agencies to find jobs. Instead, they do it themselves. They apply at grocery stores, fast food restaurants, camps, department stores and other places.

They may also look for jobs as lifeguards, babysitters, sailing instructors or teach swimming lessons.

Nicole Montagnet, a junior at Boston College from Pass Christian, will be spending her second consecutive summer as a sailing instructor for Southern Yacht Club in New Orleans.

She said she chose this job because she enjoys sailing and working with children who are learning how to sail.

Shannon Maggio, a 1990 graduate of Our Lady Academy, recently accepted a job with Nell Frisbe at Coldwell Banker Realty. Her responsibilities will include running errands and generally helping out around the office where she is needed.

Maggio said, "I decided upon this job opportunity because of the flexibility of my schedule."

Rusty Ncaise, a sixteen-year-old from Coast Episcopal High School, will be spending his summer as a lifeguard at the Bay Side Park Clubhouse.

He likes swimming and helping young children, so he finds his job very enjoyable.

Joedy Gex, a junior at Ole Miss is dividing his summertime between two jobs. He works for his father at Gex, Gex & Phillips, Attorneys at Law and at Goodyear, Guy Tire & Supply.

He said, "I wanted to expand my horizons and get as much experience as possible in the many different fields of work."

"Splitting time between these jobs has given me the experience of working with the legal problems of people and the people themselves."

Joedy plans to attend Law School after he earns his undergraduate degree.

Youths may choose their jobs for ease, enjoyment or experience; but no matter what the reason, they have the opportunity to experience the working world and prepare themselves for the years to come.

Ulrich named outstanding

Gary T. Ulrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ulrich of Pass Christian was selected an Outstanding High School Student of America for outstanding merit and accomplishment.

Ulrich is the grandson of Mrs. Cordelia Santinelli Sr. of Bay St. Louis and the late Mr. and Mrs. Benny Ulrich of Pass Christian.

Clarification

The 330 St. George Street property of Rosie McGowan, referred to as a "menace to society" in a June 7 article in the Sea Coast Echo, was declared a public menace at the May 22 meeting of the Bay St. Louis City Council.

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

The real sweepstakes

"If you return the Grand Prize winning number, Helen Brown is the SI 'one million dollar superstar' in Denver and will be paid one million dollars.

"Helen Brown has been selected to receive four free gifts! Helen Brown, your four free gift bonus package begins with the SI three-piece getaway set! Helen Brown, don't risk throwing away one million dollars!"

Actually, all this—and more—was being said to me on six gaudy, attention-grabbing, oversized check-like pieces of paper which promised me the moon if only I dared to respond. What I received, fictitious Helen Brown and a zillion other Americans have received in the mail—not once, not twice, but repeatedly.

To say the least, it gets one's attention, in spite of the clear reality that any one person's chances of winning are literally millions to one.

It is so tempting to drop the teasing entry-subscription form in the mail to "Sports Illustrated" and to await the next step, expecting the certainty that, once signed, you will be hounded by advertisements for the rest of your life.

It is definitely a given that Sports Illustrated and the other companies who run the sweepstakes for you will not lose their shirt, no matter who wins.

Since those companies are risking nothing, but simply taking advantage of one of the most lucrative promotions ever conceived, it is just as much a given that they are not interested in people but in people's money.

Nonetheless, the overwhelming attraction is still there. It is the same kind of magnetic pull which a megabuck lottery has on the everyday John or Jane Doe who dreams of hitting the big one. Sure, a few fortunates do hit it big, but 99.999 percent of those who enter are left salivating.

As capitalism proved long ago and continues to prove momently, the greed incentive is the biggest—and most tragic—success story in human life.

One of the basest of all motives, it is unfortunately the top-running stimulus toward stomaching all the toil, sweat and tears needed to accomplish our ends.

So hot is the lottery that Florida tickets are routinely bought by foreigners and sold at a huge profit on the black market south of the border.

Unbelievably, it has come to this, that the Florida legislature is considering the legalization of ticket sales to Third World countries. This would supposedly destroy the black market and give opportunities to the poor.

The sweepstakes-lottery syndrome would seem to indicate that a majority of people are locked into the greed incentive/drive, and would therefore not buy the following statement: Multi-megabuck lotteries and million-dollar sweepstakes are not the real thing. The real sweepstakes do not involve a passing drink, a casual meal or limited human resources which at most are paltry.

Those are phony, ephemeral sweepstakes destined to leave us empty and regretful at the end. We have to look elsewhere for the real sweepstakes which give us more than all the phony ones, and which do not run out as time marches on into eternity.

"If you knew the gift of God and who is saying to you, 'Give me a drink,' you would have asked him and he would have given you living water...welling up to eternal life" (Jn. 4: 10 & 14).

In spite of the fact that this "living water" does not cost even a dollar, there are relatively few takers who crave it with a fraction of the thirst with which they slaver after the phony sweepstakes. Sisters and brothers, let's go for the real thing!

Episcopal churches plan joint summer Bible school

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A vacation Bible school program, "Islands in the Son," will be presented by area Episcopal churches July 9-13 at Coast Episcopal Elementary School, 912 South Beach Blvd. in Bay St. Louis.

Participating churches include St. Thomas in Diamondhead, Trinity in Pass Christian and Christ Episcopal in Bay St. Louis.

Classes are offered for children ages 3-13 and for adults.

Activities will include a program of lively songs, skits, crafts, games and recreation with a focus on relating life experiences to the Bible.

For those who have completed grades 6, 7 and 8, the curriculum will include author James Dobson's Preparing for Adolescence.

Bobbie Maggio will conduct the adult program.

JUNE ACTIVITIES

Lunch Bunch will be eating at Chappy's in Long Beach this Thursday, June 7. We leave here at 11 a.m., but if you want to join us out there, just call Arlene Johnson at the Center (467-9282), or tell the manager you will be joining the Lunch Bunch.

June 11 we go to the dogs (in Mobile). The bus leaves at 10 a.m.

June 12 there is a picnic at the Welcome Center for our sitting area gang.

Every Friday at 11:45 a.m. we have Bingo for pizzas.

LIVING WILL

While you are still well, think about a Living Will. This is a document that gives you the "right to die" without undue treatment if you are in a terminal physical condition. We have a copy of a document which complies with Mississippi Code if you are interested. Ask us for a copy at the Center if you want to look it over.

THANKS

Thanks the Hancock Women's Club for the $200 donation. We bought a "like new" water cooler from Bob Haney for a very reduced price. Mrs. Herbert Ayers has offered us a wheelchair. We are most appreciative of this kind lady from Rocky Hill. We also received a child's wheelchair which we are passing on to North Bay Elementary School for their handicapped children's use. We sure have some super people in Hancock County. Thanks!

COMING EVENTS

July 2, Monday at 3 p.m., in the Bay St. Louis Public Library Conference Room, we shall have our second presentation and discussion of famous artists and paintings.

This week will feature "The Impressionist, Rebels in Art." The great works of Monet, Renoir and Degas, among others, are explored with a comprehensive narrative and complemented by impressionist music.

We will have a videotape which runs 18 minutes, and it will be accompanied by historical background and questions designed specifically for group discussions.

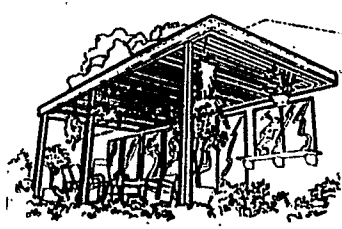

Come and bring a friend, any age!

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The Rotary Club of Diamondhead is in the process of collecting used magazines and publications such as Wall Street Journal, etc. for the benefit of libraries, area nursing homes and other institutions.

From time to time I receive calls from persons having such items and wanting to find some organization collecting them for a good cause.

Jim Williams, Rotary Club secretary at Diamondhead, reports anyone with these items may contact him at 255-4247.

The Diamondhead Rotary Club is the newest in District 684 which includes South Mississippi and South Louisiana.

The collection of the used publications is one of the club's first community projects.

I hope the response from the general public will be good on this special project.

An American Red Cross Blood Drawing will be held on Wednesday from 1 to 7 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis American Legion Post Home on Green Meadow Road. "Big John" Rutherford, local chairman, reports there is a severe need at this time for donors.

Several businesses have been contacted, and everyone who registers to donate blood will receive a coupon for a free hamburger from Burger King and a coupon for a free video rental from Video Depot.

I understand a couple of businesses will be giving employees one hour extra vacation if they donate a unit of blood.

Blood supplied to Hancock Medical Center, as well as to hospitals in Harrison County, is provided by the American Red Cross.

Donors must be 17 years old or older, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health.

I hope to see you Wednesday at the blood drawing.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Pete Johnson's party switch makes him target

State Auditor Pete Johnson, whose switch to the Republican Party last year made him the lone GOP state office holder and the first since Reconstruction, no doubt is going to be a prime target of the Democrats in the 1991 elections.

Johnson's switch inevitably triggered speculation that he was being groomed as the GOP's gubernatorial standard-bearer against Gov. Ray Mabus in 1991.

But a gubernatorial bid by Johnson, at least next year, now appears to be definitely out, barring some unforeseen major shakeup in the higher echelons of state politics.

His entire political thrust at the moment, the 42-year-old Johnson admits, is being geared to getting re-elected to the state job he won in 1987 running as a Democrat.

Johnson unquestionably has made himself vulnerable by changing parties in mid-stream. But just how vulnerable is a case of first impression in Mississippi politics, since there is no precedent for what Johnson is attempting to do.

By his own calculations, changing his label from Democrat to Republican in a statewide office is no longer an act of political suicide in Mississippi. He cites as evidence a poll done by Dick Morris after the switch which gave Johnson a 90 percent job approval rating.

Only 9 percent of those polled said they would not vote for him because he is a Republican, Johnson maintains.

At least one Democrat who is eyeing the state auditor's job seems to think differently. "I just believe a Democrat will have a good shot at it," says Tommy Dyson, a former top assistant in the Department of Audit, and state government veteran who is now director of auditing and support services for the State College Board.

"I do know that the Democrats will have somebody in the race (against Johnson)," Dyson declared.

The 55-year-old Dyson said last week he has been approached by several groups to run for state Auditor, and he is giving it serious consideration, "although at this time, I'm not a candidate for anything."

Dyson had worked for 21 years in the state Department of Audit, for nine years heading up municipal and county government audits. There had been some speculation that he would become the Audit Department-backed candidate for Auditor in 1983, but former Deputy State Auditor Mason Shelby got the nod.

Being on the wrong side politically when Mabus was elected State Auditor in 1983, Dyson resigned his job in the Audit Department in January, 1984 when Mabus took office.

In the Bill Allain Administration, Dyson had served as deputy director of federal-state programs, and was later named by Allain as executive director of the Employment Security Commission. Again, when Mabus became governor in January, 1988, Dyson packed his bags and got out of the way at Employment Security.

Although he has never run for office, Dyson is well known in political circles, particularly in county and municipal politics. For months, Dyson has been making political gatherings around the state.

"I know a few people out there," Dyson declared.

Johnson, grandson of Gov. Paul B. Johnson and nephew of Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. had treaded heavily on the Johnson political name in his race for the State Auditor job in 1987. But his win over a tough field in the Democratic primaries must also be credited to skilled campaigning.

When Johnson converted to the Republican Party last year, the move stunned some of the staunch Democrats who are remnants of the old Johnson organization. The younger Johnson maintained he no longer felt welcome in the state Democratic Party.

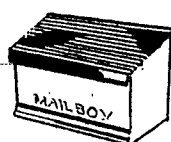

Johnson is still carrying a

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I know you have received many letters of complaint about the Harbor Drive dumpsters (three of them), located on the site of a brand new boat launch.

Our retirement home of 10 years is on the street south of this very smelly, full of flies, rats and stray dogs dumping site. We used to enjoy our morning coffee on our front porch; well, enclosed are pictures of our view now. Our anniversary barbecue on Saturday, June 2 was forced inside — the wind was just right!

The dumpster company picked up Thursday, May 31 after we complained to Mr. Seymour. The next pickup was not until Monday, June 4. We called Mr. Seymour and Mr. Cuevas again. They finally came at 4 p.m. They came this morning again, Thursday, June 8 at 2:14 a.m. Try sleeping through that noise. By the way, their favorite pick-up time is 2-4 a.m.

Our neighbors have been trying to sell their house. Several families have been very interested until they see the dumpsters.

Needless to say, we would like the dumpsters to be removed. We had no say in the placement of these dumpsters. Mr. Seymour said it was requested and voted on by the community. No one asked us!

Our supervisors have done the best they can to keep our roads pothole-free, fixing the boat launch, keeping our roads and ditches clean and providing mosquito control. Why won't they remove the monsters of a health hazard from our front yards?

This picture was taken on June 4 after the last pickup of May 31. Sometimes it is a lot worse.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ham Achee

1990 is the year of airborne forces

To the Editor:

Today is D Day, it is also the day in 1942 that my old unit, the 509th Parachute Infantry Battalion sailed for England.

This July 5-8 in Washington D.C., all airborne forces of the United States will be celebrating the 50th anniversary of airborne troops in the U.S. Army.

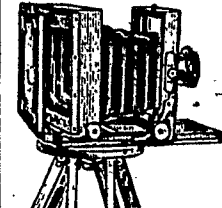

Most airborne organizations have scheduled their 1990 reunions and conventions for Washington D.C. and at that time will join together for a 50th anniversary celebration by staging a parade of all airborne units on Saturday, July 7 and a mass formation and retreat ceremony on Sunday, July 8 in RFK Stadium.

The 509th will be near the head of the parade as it was the first airborne unit in the U.S. Army to jump in combat flying from Sands End, England, and 1,600 miles later jumping at La Sevier Airport in French Morocco Nov. 9, 1942 on the invasion of North Africa.

Therefore, in my opinion, 1990 is truly The Year of the Airborne. Geronimo!

Respectfully,
Robert P. Akers

Inkol Chiropractic, Coast Electric among AAU tourney competitors

Two local teams with squads from Bay High and SSC played last week in the summer AAU high school basketball league tournament at the Pearl River College high school gym in Carriere.

Inkol Chiropractic sponsors the St. Stanislaus-based squads. Coast Electric sponsors the Bay High squads.

In the 18 and under division Wednesday, the Gulfport-based Hancock Bank team defeated Inkol. Leading the scoring for Inkol was Galen Smith with 15 points.

Inkol won its next game against Coast Electric with a final score of 46-41. Leading scorers were Shawn Williams, 13 points; Derek Inkol, 12 points; and Vince Moran, eight points.

Individual point totals for Coast Electric were not available at press time.

Inkol defeated Dub Herring 60-22 to reach the championship game. Top scorers were Derek Inkol, 15 points; Kendall Daniels, 12 points; Shawn Williams, nine points; Vincent Moran and Evan Morris, eight points each.

Other team members include Mansel Bell, Jay Wood, Stephen Schruoff, Chad Perrone, Ray Ladner and Dwayne Bremmer.

In Friday night's game, Inkol prevailed over Tri-City 57-55 with two free throws made with seconds to play. Leading scorers were Brandon Smith, 18 points; Galen Smith, 17 points; and Eric York, 10 points.

The 18 and under bracket includes Tri-City (Vanceleave), Hancock Bank (Gulfport), Inkol and Hattiesburg.

The championship game of the round-robin tournament for the 16 and under division was held late Saturday afternoon. Final results will appear in Thursday's edition of the Echo. The 16 and under boys' division includes Inkol (SSC), Coast Electric (Bay High), Dub Herring (PRC) and Picayune.

AAU league action is spread over five weekend tournaments running through July 7. The league is designed to help local high school players keep their basketball skills tuned throughout the summer.

Golf fundraiser to benefit burn center

The third annual Coors Light Mississippi Burn Center Golf Classic is scheduled for June 20 at Castlewoods Country Club in Jackson.

The tournament, open to golfers throughout the state, kicks off Coors' annual fund-raising effort for the burn center, the region's only complete burn treatment facility. The funds will be used to offset the tremendous cost of burn-patient care.

Entry fee for the classic is $65 per person and includes greens fees, cart, lunch, prizes and complimentary hat, tees and balls.

To enter the Coors Light Classic, call Sandy Johnson at (601) 322-3101. Checks should be made payable to Coors/MS Firefighters Burn Center, c/o Sandy Johnson, Mississippi Burn Center, P.O. Box 935, Greenville, MS 38702.

Ole Miss football camp slated July 15-18

Boys in grades five through 11 are invited to register for the 1990 Ole Miss Football Camp July 15-18.

Instruction will be provided by Ole Miss Head Football Coach Billy Brewer and assistant coaches. Additional instruction will come from other top collegiate and high school coaches.

Emphasis in camp will be given to fundamentals and techniques for quarterbacks, offensive linemen, defensive linemen, defensive secondary, place kickers and punters. Athletes will be shown how to play football with proper conditioning by exercise, agility drills and strength programs.

Fee for resident campers is $155 and will include instruction, room, meals, limited accident insurance, a T-shirt, certificate and camp photograph.

Fee for day campers is $130 which includes only the lunch meal. A deposit of $75 is required for all campers, with the balance due on the day of registration at the Ole Miss campus.

Applications must be received by July 9. Refunds will be made if requested 48 hours prior to the opening of camp.

The camp is being coordinated by the Ole Miss Center for Public Service and Continuing Studies. For registration information, call (601) 232-7282.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katie McGuire Caire

Fresher than fresh regional summertime vegetable and fruit "specialties" grace the counters at our area supermarkets these hot days. To mention just a few, there are the Mississippi-grown tender young snapbeans, those wonderful Creole tomatoes and those famous sweet Vidalia onions, which really keep the town of Vidalia, Ga., in the lime-light during their all-too short season! (The onions, that is, not the town.)

Short season, but oh so sweet taste! When I'm slicing a Vidalia onion, for a salad, I find myself munching as I go and enjoying every bite. And, when teamed with those juicy, lushly red Creole tomatoes with just a dribbling of Vinaigrette and liberal dustings of black pepper, you've a salad par excellence. You might want to toss in a few leftover snap beans, that is, if you can stop eating them long enough to have any leftover!

As for the snapbeans—there are any number of fancy recipes for cooking snapbeans, but fresh-from-the-fields-or-garden snapbeans are so delicious that it's a shame, at least to this cook, to do very much at all to them. Usually, after scavenging through the hills of beans for the skinniest, smallest, youngest ones (my preference) I steam them ever so briefly in the merest amount of water, with lemon slices, and at times a bit of butter or margarine, and a bit of seasonings, and serve with generous dustings of fresh-ground pepper. Sometimes I combine the beans with the very smallest new potatoes I can find, with the skins on, for a quick dish. (Good cold, also).

I usually just tip-and-tail the beans, but at times I'm a mite fancier, and I sliver them. For a quick salad, here's:

SNAP (GREEN) BEAN SALAD
1 lb. tender young fresh snapbeans
2 cups shredded lettuce
2 green onions, chopped
2 sprigs summer savory (or 1/4 tsp. dried savory)
French dressing of your choice.

Trim the ends of the beans, and cook briefly in just a bit of water until crisp-tender. Drain well, and cool. Shortly before serving, toss the beans with all the other ingredients, using only enough of the dressing to coat lightly. Sometimes I toss in a few leaves of watercress or parsley.

As to the dressing, basic French dressing is a mixture of good wine vinegar, oil, pepper, salt, along with fresh green herbs and a dash of mustard if you wish. At times I use lemon juice instead of the vinegar. Just remember, the proportions are: one part of vinegar to three of oil, with salt and freshly ground pepper to taste—and it's best when freshly made, if you're feeling ambitious, if not, substitute a dressing to your liking.

During the all-too short season for Creole tomatoes, I eat them almost around the clock, it seems; in a breakfast or brunch omelette, for example; in a salad at lunch or dinner-time, in a sandwich for a quick supper, in many ways.

I am also fond of fried or sauteed tomatoes, coated with cornmeal or flour, and quickly cooked. Ripe or green tomatoes are equally good in this dish. And, I also like to combine the sliced tomatoes with slices of sweet white onion (the Vidalias are excellent for this) along with chopped parsley and green onions and dash of basil, on a bed of varied chopped lettuce, splashing it all with Vinaigrette.

MARINATED ONIONS
2 cups water

3 Tblsp. sugar
3 cups white vinegar
2 or 4 white or red onions, thinly sliced and separated into rings
1/2 cup mayonnaise, preferably homemade
1 tsp. celery seed
Freshly ground pepper
Salt
Heat the water, sugar and vinegar in a medium saucepan until sugar is dissolved. Cool. Soak the onions, covered, in this marinade overnight. Then, drain well.

In a medium bowl, mix the mayonnaise, celery seed, pepper and salt to your taste. Stir the onions into this mixture, and serve. This is delicious with cold roast beef. (Six servings)—from "Encore" cookbook, Junior League of Nashville, Tenn.

So, if you've bought one of those bottom round or boneless rump roasts on special just now, save some for this. It's also good with ham or chicken and so on! I've also enjoyed the jumbo red onions in this recipe.

Yellow squash, bell (green) peppers and broccoli and cauliflower are also good buys this week. And, California nectarines are in, as well as a profusion of fresh peaches and red grapes, to mention just a few buys.

Other good buys: Whole fryers or chicken quarters, as well as various parts, along with shank half hams and picnic hams—both excellent buys with a nice amount of leftovers for quick sandwiches or other meals.

Crab Festival set

The sixth annual Bay St. Louis Fourth of July Crab Festival will be June 29-July 1 on the beachfront at the foot of the Bay Bridge.

The menu includes crab and shrimp specialties, po-boys, hot dogs, hamburgers and more.

Crafts, games for children and adults, a volleyball tournament, twilight race across the bridge, a children's talent show and a flea market are planned.

The centerpiece tent will be connected with the food booths by covered walkways.

Kiddie Land and the flea market will also be under the tent.

For information about the talent show on June 30, contact Connie Heitzmann, 467-1892.

For information about the volleyball tournament and the bridge run, also set for June 30, call Art Geary, 467-8085.

Mississippi farmers feed school children across U.S.

Who serves more than 22 million meals a day, has over 100,000 separate dining locations, and is the fifth largest food preparation and serving organization in the country?

The correct answer is USDA's National School Lunch Program.

It takes a lot of food to fill lunch trays for kids every school day. And, since one of the most dependable sources for that food is Mississippi's farmers, both the state's children and farmers benefit.

Mississippi products — such as chicken, potatoes and pork — are shipped to school districts across the nation. Last year alone, the federal government spent more than $10.9 million on these items and other food commodities.

After you've read those figures, you begin to get an indication of the impact the school lunch program has on Mississippi's farmers.

In fact, in the past five years approximately $62.1 million was spent by the federal government to purchase Mississippi farm products for school lunch and other feeding programs.

This has fluctuated from a low of $7.1 million per school year in 1988 to a high of $19 million in 1985.

COMMUNITY

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, JUNE 10, 1990-1B

SECTION B

Billy Monti stands on the path to the shrine.

Path to Our Lady's Shrine to be lined with memories

BY LIZ HAAS

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church leaders envision a permanent walk of memories which will extend from the Shrine of Our Lady of the Woods to Beach Boulevard.

In charge of the project are Pastor Father Peter Mockler, Dr. Sidney Chevis, construction chairman; and Billy Monti, public relations chairman.

In 1989, the community began the restoration of the shrine, located to the rear of the OLG Church in Bay St. Louis, to its rightful state. The shrine was erected in 1847 and has survived several hurricanes.

As part of the restoration, a 700-foot granite-stone walkway is being constructed on which approximately 11,000 engraveable stones will be placed. Monti said about 300 of the stones have already been purchased.

The stones may be purchased for a $150 dollar tax deductible donation. Donations will be used to pay for the St. Joseph's Academy property east of Our Lady of the Gulf purchased in 1988 and to start a fund to build other parish facilities on the land.

Concrete laying began two weeks ago with Wilbert Dorsey in charge of the project. The brick-laying will begin within the next couple of weeks, according to Billy Monti.

Although most of the work has been donated by parish members, the group is trying to find a professional bricklayer to handle the job in order to do it correctly and ensure that it will last for many years to come.

The church plans to host a ribbon-cutting ceremony at the start of the laying of bricks.

The stone engraving will be done by Riemann Funeral Home in Gulfport. Stones may be engraved in a purchaser's name, a couple's name or family name.

In addition, someone may like to remember a relative, friend, former teacher, pastor or organization that is dear.

Monti said, "It's not just a project to raise money, but a way to help people preserve the memories of loved ones."

Rev. McCaully ordained at Our Lady of the Gulf

BY LIZ HAAS

Reverend Daniel McCaully was ordained for the Diocese of Biloxi on June 9, 1990, in a 10 a.m. ceremony.

Bishop Joseph Howze administered the Sacrament of Holy Orders at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

McCaully chose to be ordained at OLG because he feels it is like his home parish since he has spent weekends here for the last two years.

He had been thinking about the priesthood since the time he attended a Catholic grade school but had not actually decided to pursue his call until six years after he graduated from high school.

RELIGION

Father Charles Boykins named Divine Word Missionaries Provincial

Special to the Echo
Father Charles Raymond Boykins, SVD, was installed as Provincial Superior of the Divine Word Missionaries USA Southern Province on June 1 at the Holy Family Retreat Center in Beaumont, Texas.

Breaking all precedent, which had Bay St. Louis firmly entrenched as the site of such ceremonies, the installation took place in Beaumont.

The tenth provincial of the Southern Province was "instooled" during a Mass of Thanksgiving at the conclusion of the annual retreat of the brothers and fathers of the Southern Province.

Reminiscent of the years he had spent in Ghana, Africa, as a missionary, Father Boykins teamed up with Father Bob Fisher, who also spent a number of years in Ghana, to do the installation Ghanaian style.

Flanked by Bob Fisher and outgoing Provincial Borgia Aubespain, Charles Boykins sat to the furious beat of a drum roll by Father Gerry Lewis. He stood up, then sat down a second time to the drum roll. After another repetition, he stood up to the clamorous applause of everyone present.

Immediately after the instoolment, Father Boykins' new provincial council was introduced: Father Clifton Labbe, vice provincial; Father Walter Bracken, admonitor;

Brother Rogers Hannan and Father Joseph Guidry.

Several of the confreres, who had not been there for the retreat came in for the installation. They were joined by Father Michael Jamail, retreat master, and by Sister Agnes Marie, a long-time friend from the Sisters of the Holy Family.

The road to the province office in Bay St. Louis followed many twisting routes which originated near Alexandria, La. Born on the Red River, seven miles down from the Black River, Charlie was said to be from "Seven Miles."

However, his birthplace is considered Acme, since that hamlet has the nearest post office and since the cartographers never heard of Seven Miles.

There was no school or church in Seven Miles. The scattered inhabitants farmed, fished, hunted and trapped animals. Fish boats bought their fish and sold them groceries.

In that pristine wilderness, it was no surprise that Charlie's father never went to school and that his mother went only to the seventh grade. However, both his father and mother could read, write and "figure."

"Daddy was a baptized Baptist," writes Charlie, "who did not practice his religion because he really felt that he did not have any religion. Mom was a cradle Catholic from the Madisonville area, but of Marksville vintage. Baptized at Holy Ghost Church in New Orleans, she brought us up in the Catholic religion. She taught us catechism, Bible history and both Catholic and Protestant songs, before she lost her voice (for singing) after a goiter operation."

Driven out of Seven Miles by floodwaters in 1945, the Boykins family took refuge behind the levee in Bordelonville where Charlie completed the last five weeks of the third grade in a one-room school.

After attending public elementary schools farther up the river in Jonesville and Alexandria, he entered St. James School in Alexandria for the seventh and eighth grades.

Mississippi United Methodist conference to meet in Tupelo

Bishop Robert C. Morgan, resident bishop for the Mississippi Conference of the United Methodist Church, has announced the preachers and speakers for the 1990 conference sessions.

They include two United Methodist bishops, a general board evangelism leader, a United Methodist university president, a university head coach and a clergy member of the Mississippi Conference.

The 1990 conference session will be June 11-14 at the Tupelo Market Center in Tupelo. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. June 11 with the opening worship service at 1:30 p.m.

The opening service on Monday afternoon will include a memorial service for members of the conference who have died since the last meeting. Preaching will be Rev. Clifford E. Davis Jr. of Tupelo, a retired clergy member of the conference.

Bishop Morgan will be the celebrant in the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, also scheduled to be a part of the opening worship period. Bishop Morgan also will give the Challenge in closing worship at 11:30 a.m. on Thursday, June 14.

Monday night's worship at 7:30 on June 11 has been designated with the theme "Celebrating the Ministry of the Laity." Special music will be presented by the Lake Junaluska Singers, and the special speaker will be Mr. Bill Curry, University of Kentucky head coach.

Curry, a native of College Park, Ga., has coached also at Alabama, Georgia Tech and for the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Dr. David L. Watson, executive secretary for covenant discipleship and Christian formation for the general board of discipleship, Nashville, will preach in the morning worship services scheduled Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 8:30.

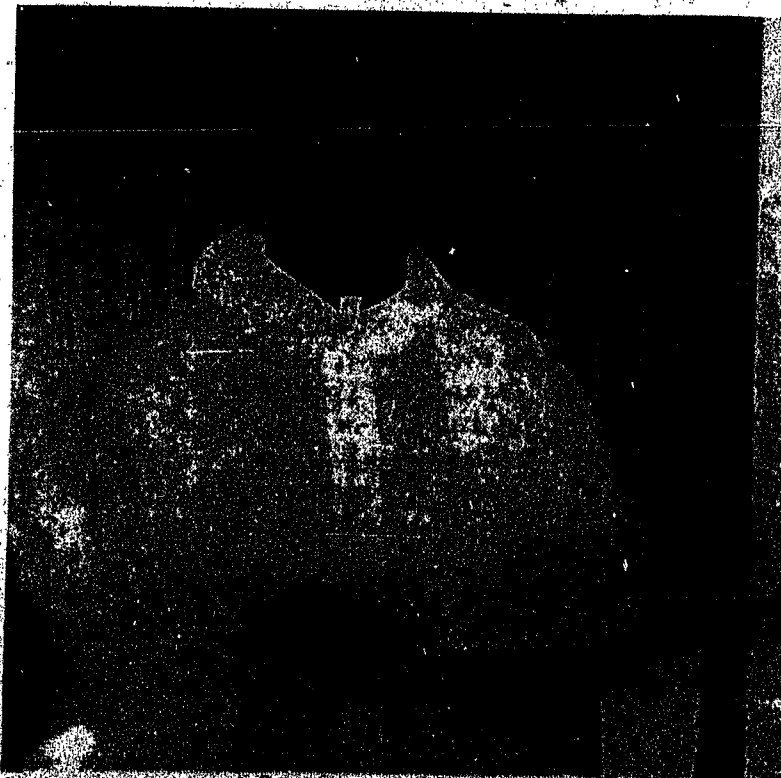

Dr. Watson is a native of England and is educated at Oxford University, Eden Theological Seminary, St. Louis, and Duke University. Dr. Watson's messages will be on the theme "Vital Congregations—Faithful Disciples." The specific topic include: Tuesday, "A Chosen People;" Wednesday, "An Anointed People;" and Thursday, "A Servant People."

The Service of Ordination is to be the special feature for Tuesday's 7:30 p.m. worship. Bishop Leontine Kelly, San Francisco, will be the preacher.

Bishop Kelly was an ordained member of the Virginia Annual Conference prior to her election as a United Methodist bishop in July 1984. She was assigned as resident bishop of the San Francisco area, where she served from 1984 until her retirement in 1988. She is now serving as visiting professor of evangelism and witness at the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, Calif.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Sierra Club

The June 28 program of the Sierra Club will feature Dr. Chris Wells, botanist and superintendent of the Crosby Arboretum in Picayune.

The Arboretum's 64-acre principal site near Picayune anchors a 1,600-acre network of 10 self-contained yet interrelated environmental systems.

In these living laboratories some 1,600 plant species and their native habitats are preserved, maintained and enhanced. Among these natural areas are such diverse sites as a pitcher plant bog, a beech magnolia forest, a white cedar swamp, an evergreen hummock and a pine savanna.

The public is invited to the free presentation at the Marine Education Center in Biloxi at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 28. Refreshments will be served. For information call 435-2623 or 865-1508.

Delta Kappa Gamma

Alpha Upsilon chapter officers of Delta Kappa Gamma were recently installed for the 1990-92 Biennium.

Among those installed are Linda Lightsey, president; Marie Donald, first vice president; Dianne Wilson, second vice president; Sherrill Haynes, secretary; and Patricia Lanham, corresponding secretary.

Outgoing officers include Helen Mestayer, president; and Karen Fayard, first vice president. Also present at the installation was Betty Barrett, Zeta state vice president.

Delta Kappa Gamma is an international honorary teachers society founded in 1929 as a medium through which women who have made outstanding contributions in education may gain recognition.

BAY ST. LOUIS

Take Off Pounds Sensibly Chapter 249 in Bay St. Louis met Wednesday at Hancock Medical Center. Top loser for the week was Helen with 3 1/4 pounds. Angie, Beverly and Helen each received a charm for losing 10 pounds. "T" and Robin were the winners of the "Dime Contest."

Meetings are every Wednesday at Hancock Medical Center from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Weigh-ins are 5:45-6:30 p.m.

For information, call Doris at 467-7430.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The regular monthly meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 was held on Monday, May 14 at the Legion home.

Margaret Prevou, president, opened the meeting. Hazel Wohlschlegel and Evelyn Burns, color-bearers, advanced the colors; Ursula Favre, chaplain, read the prayers and Prevou led the members in the Pledge of Allegiance followed by the Preamble.

Janed Aime, secretary, read the role call of officers followed by the reading of previous month's minutes which were accepted as read. Bobby Tomlinson, treasurer, gave the financial report.

Due to the inclement weather, many of the members were unable to attend, so reports from various committees were shelved for the time being.

Because of the large attendance of volunteers from the unit at the VAVS awards meeting in Gulfport on Apr. 24, Prevou received a Certificate of Appreciation from Elmer Dickens, assistant chief of voluntary services.

At this meeting, members Roslyn Weathers received a 2,500 service hours pin, and Hazel Wohlschlegel received a 1750 service hours pin. Other volunteers received certificates for the various service hours categories.

The nominating committee submitted a list of candidates for the new officers of 1990-91 to be elected on Monday, June 11.

On Sunday, May 27 flags were placed on three local cemeteries' grave sites of veterans as a remembrance of those we loved and lost.

The regular monthly birthday party, sponsored by the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 for the residents of Hotel Reed Nursing Center, was held Thursday, May 31 for residents who celebrated birthdays during the month.

Roslyn Weathers led the singing with gospel tapes and "oldies but goodies," while Oris Planchard, Elaine Roberts, Pat Turnipseed and Juanita Seissman went among the residents to encourage them to join in the activity.

Hancock Women's Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Hancock Women's Club will be at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club at 11 a.m. Thursday, June 14. Fun and Games Day will be at the home of Julia Lopp, 620 Central Avenue, Waveland at noon Wednesday, June 27.

There will be no meetings or activities during the months of July and August.

Methodist

(7:30) is "A Salute to Christian Higher Education." The preacher will be Dr. James Laney, president of United Methodist-related Emory University.

Dr. Laney has been Emory's president since 1977. Dr. Laney received his PhD degree from Yale Divinity School and his principal field of scholarship is ethics and the moral life.

A special offering will be received Wednesday evening with proceeds designated for the Africa United Methodist University (50 percent), Conference Campus Ministry (25 percent), and Ministerial Scholarship Fund (25 percent).

YOUR BONES MAY BE DISSOLVING.OSTEOPOROSIS CAN ROB YOU OF
BONE MASS SILENTLY, WITHOUT PAIN,
WITHOUT WARNING SIGNS.

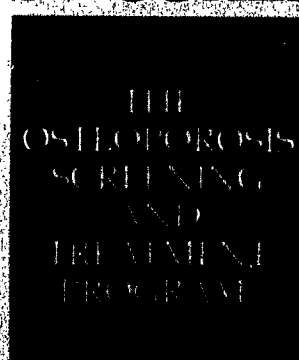

"Not me," you say? You may think osteoporosis affects only the elderly. Think again. It can strike anyone of any age, any race. If you're a woman over 30, you are especially at risk. Three out of four women fall victim to the disease. You can feel fit and healthy, even as your bones dissolve away. By the time you feel its effects, osteoporosis is already at a dangerous stage. Risk of fracture and painful, sometimes disfiguring complications can be well advanced.

The damage osteoporosis does can't be entirely undone, but the disease itself can be arrested and reversed. Catch it early enough, and you've got a good chance of avoiding crippling complications, too.

CALL FOR YOUR SCREENING, TODAY.

Ordinary X-rays can detect bone loss usually only after 30-40 percent of the bone is already gone. The SMH Osteoporosis Screening and Treatment Program employs leading-edge technologies to spot the disease in its earliest stages. No preparation is required for the screening. No shots, no probes, no discomfort. You remain fully clothed. It takes only minutes.

Dr. Mark C. Lueg, who developed the SMH Osteoporosis

(504) 649-6053
(800) 627-7733

Screening and Treatment Program, is a nationally recognized authority on the disease. Until recently, osteoporosis was thought incurable. But new treatment methods used by Dr. Lueg now make it possible to stop the loss of bone mass and actually rebuild bone density.

Maybe you feel just fine, but the only way to find out for sure whether you have osteoporosis, the "silent thief", is to call now for a screening.

Stanford-Stephenson

Angela Marie Stanford and Robert Asa Stephenson were united in marriage at Thirty-Eighth Avenue Baptist Church in Hattiesburg on May 12 at 2 p.m.

Dr. Wiley G. Abel performed the double ring ceremony in the newly refurbished sanctuary before an altar of brass candelabra scalloped with white tulle.

A large arrangement of assorted white flowers served as a centerpiece with large palms in the background. The steps to the altar were decorated with ferns and white mums.

Given in marriage by her step-father, the bride wore a white princess gown of white satin designed with a Queen Anne neckline trimmed with narrow reembroidered Alencon lace. Her long sleeves were inset with reembroidered Alencon lace from the shoulder puffs to the tapered point at her wrist where they were fitted with small pearl buttons. The back of the dress was designed in an open tear drop scalloped with narrow reembroidered Alencon lace leading to a large satin bow below the waistline that sat amidst layers of satin tiers that completed the circular train. She wore a fingertip veil of silk illusion that fell from a halo of satin flowers and nosegays of pearls.

She carried a bouquet of cascading pink and white tea roses accented with baby's breath and stephanotis.

Suzie Ezell of Meridian served as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Pamela Reams of Hattiesburg, cousin of the bride, Deidra Davis of Lafayette, La., and Johnnie Williams of Hattiesburg.

The attendants wore formal gowns of powder pink satin each with sweetheart neckline, basque bodice and high/low hemline. The dresses were embellished with bows and tiers of satin from the waistline in the back. They carried scoop baskets of spring bouquets.

Samuel Stephenson of McComb served his son as best man.

Groomsmen were Jim Stephenson of Jackson, John Stephenson of McComb, brothers of the groom, and Jason Lang of Biloxi.

Ushers were Brad Bufkin, Gary Johnson, cousins of the bride, both from Hattiesburg; David Smith of McComb and Danny Robertson of Biloxi.

Hope Fergusson served as flower girl and Michael Johnson, cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer; both are from Hattiesburg.

Music was presented by Mrs. Theresa Finch of Gulfport, vocalist, and Mrs. Linda Nelson of Mobile, organist. Both are cousins of the bride.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall.

Following a wedding trip to Fort Walton Beach, Fla., the couple is residing in Pascagoula from where the bride will be commuting to her teaching position at Hancock North Central Elementary School, and the bridegroom is a district scout executive for the Boy Scouts of America.

As yet unbaptized, Charlie freely chose to enter the Catholic Church while in the seventh grade and was confirmed the following year.

Through the influence of Father Robert Pung's Future Priests' Club in Bay St. Louis, as well as through the example of three classmates who belonged to it, he decided to enter St. Augustine Seminary after the eighth grade.

"I felt called, but hoped to be rejected (typical of me always)," he says, "since I hated to face my non-catholic father with this decision, and because I wanted to go into the Navy. And they say I was nearly rejected since I had not 'been a Catholic' for at least three years. Actually, I had always been a Catholic at heart and by training."

Subsequent to high school at St. Augustine Seminary 1951-55, Charlie did his novitiate and college at Conesus, N.Y. 1955-59, philosophy at Techny 1959-61, theology in Bay St. Louis 1961-65 and was ordained in Bay St. Louis on Feb. 13, 1965.

Within nine months, Father Boykins had received a missionary assignment to Ghana where he worked until January 1980. About half the time he did parish work, while he directed the SVD Ghanaian novices during his remaining years.

A graduate certificate in formation from St. Louis University served him well in that latter task. It was also from Africa that he attended the 1977 SVD

General Chapter as a delegate.

Father Boykins' foreign ministry concluded with a stint as spiritual director of the graduate student priests at St. Peter College in Rome 1980-81. Before returning to the States, he spent four months in Germany studying German and participating in the German novitiate program and in pastoral ministry.

Returning to the States in 1981, he worked as an associate pastor at St. John the Evangelist Parish in Los Angeles for four and a half years, as pastor of St. Paul the Apostle Church in New Orleans 1986-88 and as director of Tolton House of Studies in New Orleans 1988. He attended the 1988 SVD General Chapter in Rome as a delegate from the USA South Province.

"Now I am the provincial of the Southern Province, happy and scared," says Father Boykins, "and even quite excited about serving as provincial

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Hancock County
Humane Society

The Hancock County Humane Society Inc. has been helping the animals and serving the people of Hancock County since it was founded in 1973 by Mrs. Clifford T. Backlund.

The main source of income is derived from a flea market which is located in the Civic Building on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

The society is working toward curbing the animal population explosion in Hancock County by offering financial assistance to needy pet owners in spaying or neutering their pets.

Help is also needed with medical emergencies if funds are available and the pet owner is truly needy. When cruelty or neglect reports are received, the society does its best to work for the betterment of the animals involved.

"A volunteer cruelty investigator is needed and any and all volunteers who would like to join us in our never-ending work would be welcome. Please call 467-7686 if you can spare some time," said John Ross, society president.

Prepare for Flag Day celebrated June 14

Flag Day will be celebrated on June 14. We should make every effort to participate in this anniversary of the Stars and Stripes. This is the time to honor America.

Our Country's history will recall a flag of 13 stars and 13 stripes. We have prospered and grown to the present 50 states.

On June 14, 1777 John Adams introduced the following resolution before the Continental Congress which was meeting in Philadelphia:

"Resolved that the flag of the United States shall be 13 stripes alternated red and white and that the union be 13 stars, white on a blue field."

It is also customary for the Betty Ross House in Philadelphia to give a program and a band concert honoring the maker of the first flag.

We are told that George Washington together with General George Ross and Robert Morris called on Betsy Ross and showed her a sketch of the flag they approved except that the stars were with six points and they would like five points. Betsy easily made the change.

Old Glory... The Star Spangled Banner, and The Stars and Stripes are names used when discussing our nation's flag. When we display our flag we are supporting our land, our people and our government.

It is a thrilling sight to see an avenue of flags fluttering in the breeze and to see small children waving small flags when parades are marching. The flag message is one of alertness against the forces that might seem to destroy our democratic form of government—our proud and free way of life.

Now is the time to carefully inspect our flags. Have them clean and "at ready" for use on Flag Day. A right hand over the heart and a sincere Pledge of Allegiance is our time-honored custom. She's a grand old flag and a high-flying flag. Hats off! The flag is passing by.

McCaully

Rev. McCaully spent his first year at the Diocese of his hometown, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He stayed in Iowa for the next three years and spent a year in novitiate, a time for spiritual and personal growth, at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis.

He then attended Notre Dame Seminary in New Orleans for the next four years and earned his Masters of Divinity on May 17, 1990.

He will remain at OLG until the middle of August then he will leave for a brief stay in Laurel.

In the beginning of September, he will at the Catholic Church in Hattiesburg as its parish priest.

Father Dan celebrated his first Mass of Thanksgiving on Sunday, June 10 at the 11 a.m. service. The Mass was a youth celebration in which students from Bay Catholic Elementary, Our Lady Academy, St. Stanislaus and the OLG Catholic Youth Organization were involved.

Willie Morris to speak on Gulf Coast June 14

Willie Morris—former editor of Harper's Magazine, chronicler of the South in fact and fiction, and writer-in-residence at The University of Mississippi—will speak in Gulfport on Thursday, June 14.

He will read from and discuss his work and take questions from the audience at a session that begins at 7 p.m. in Parker Hall at William Carey College on the Beach.

The Gulf Coast Writers Program is sponsoring the event, which is part of the Ole Miss Visiting Writers Program which Morris directs.

Morris' first book, "North Toward Home," earned the Houghton-Mifflin Literary Prize in 1967, and his 1983 book, "The Courting of Marcus Dupree" received the Christopher Medal.

His most recent works were both published in 1989—"Good Old Boy and the Witch of Yazoo" from Yoknapatawpha Press and "Homecomings" from the University Press of Mississippi.

His other books include "Yazoo: Integration in a Deep Southern Town," "Good Old Boy," the novel "The Last of the Southern Girls," "A Southern Album," "James Jones: A Friendship," "Terrains of the Heart and Other Essays on Home," and "Always Stand Against the Curve and Other Sports Stories."

He also edited and wrote the introduction for "The South Today, One Hundred Years After Appomattox." His articles, essays and stories have appeared most of America's major magazines and many publications abroad.

He came to Ole Miss in 1980 and has taught classes and seminars for both the English and journalism departments. As director of the University's Visiting Writers Program, he has brought some of America's greatest writers (many of whom are also personal friends) to speak and meet with students and the public. They include James Dickey, William Styron, Shelby Foote, Alex Haley, Peter Athiessen and George Plimpton.

The June 14 program is free and open to the public.

HE KNOWS MORE ABOUT HOW THIS CAR PERFORMS THAN HOW HIS NEW DOCTOR DOES.

Most people wouldn't choose a car without knowing everything about it. Yet when it comes to choosing a doctor, all many people know about the one they select is his or her name.

So, in order for you to make a more informed decision, we recommend contacting The Physicians Bureau Referral Service.

With just a simple phone call, you can find out virtually anything you need to know about doctors in nearly all medical fields. The referral who answers your call can tell you about a doctor's credentials, experience, office location, hours and even insurance acceptance policy.

So before you choose just any doctor, call us. We have what's necessary to steer you in the right direction.

GLASNOST

The cataclysmic effects of glasnost on the former underground Soviet art scene are chronicled in "USSR Art," an hour-long documentary premiering at 10 p.m., Monday, June 11, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

The program reveals how and why some artistic expression came to be considered heretical and "anti-Soviet." Interviews with numerous Russian artists explore the human side of an enormous social transition and reveal the excitement and ambivalence that the burgeoning international marketplace for Soviet art has produced within a community of artists

1990 YEARBOOK

A comprehensive look at businesses and industries that make up your community.

Lee's Jewelry Box

Lee's Jewelry Box, located, 308-L Choctaw Village, Waveland, has been in business since 1989.

They buy and sell gold, silver and diamonds. They also provide jewelry sales, repairs and manufacturing. The shop orders from catalogs, however, they can cast what the customer wants.

It is owned by Lee Hearndon and managed by Becky White. Hearndon established another store, Lee's Pawn Shop, in 1978 and has been conducting business in Hancock County for 12 years.

The store may be reached at 467-4515.

Ashman Mollere Realty

Ashman Mollere Realty, located at 227 Coleman Ave., Waveland, was established approximately 60 years ago.

They aid the community in the purchasing of homes, businesses and investment properties. They provide all types of rentals, such as weekly vacation beach rentals and residential and commercial monthly rentals.

The officers include: Sue Ashman, broker and owner; sales counselors Dixie Ashman, Lillie Burke and Diane Mavor; and Derek Breerwood, agent.

The agency said that they have been established for so long that they are now selling to third and fourth generations in the same families.

They may be reached at 467-5454.

Dairy Queen of Waveland

Dairy Queen of Waveland located at 410 Highway 90 in Waveland, began operating in April of 1990.

Dairy Queen is mainly a restaurant, yet they also serve many ice cream treats. These include: Brazier-soft serve-Royal treat, blizzards, and coming soon, cakes and yogurt.

The owners are Dan and Wanda Tracy of Pass Christian. Wanda is the previous owner of the Cotton Exchange in Pass Christian. Manager Les Fraser is the nephew of Dan and Wanda.

The "Dairy Queen" system is one of the oldest franchise restaurant operations in the world. In a short span of 50 years, the "Dairy Queen" system has evolved from a single walk-up store in Joliet, Illinois to a market-leading system of more than 5,100 franchises in the United States, Canada, and 14 other countries.

This is a 50th birthday celebration of historical proportions. The week of June 18-22 has been designated as the official birthday week. Dairy Queen will celebrate by offering the "Dairy Queen" systems first product, the 5 ounce cone, for a nostalgic price of 25 cents. This promotion thanks customers for 50 years of loyalty with the theme line, "It's our birthday, but it's your treat."

Merchants Bank & Trust Co.

Merchants Bank & Trust Co. is a financial institution with four locations in the Bay-Waveland area and nine locations from Long Beach to Biloxi.

Merchants Bank opened its doors on October 15, 1903 on Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis. Four hundred shares of stock were sold to generate operating capital.

The first branch opened on Coleman Avenue, Waveland in 1966. When Hurricane Camille struck in 1969, she greatly damaged the Beach Boulevard branch and destroyed the Coleman Avenue branch, which was later rebuilt.

In 1969 an existing building was remodeled at Our Shopping Center in Waveland to make the third Hancock County location. The spring of 1985 saw the large, full-service facility located on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis open for business.

Merchants Bank offers all services of financial institution plus Golden Credit, Golden "55", Golden Touch and the automatic teller machine with access to GulfNet.

The officers include: Guy C. Billups Jr., Chairman of the Board; William R. Allison, president; Bill Breland, Waveland branch manager; Charley E. (Dusty) Rhodes and Henry Monti, Bay St. Louis branch managers.

Dantagnan Realty, Inc.

Dantagnan Realty, Inc., located at 103 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis, originated in Clermont Harbor in the 1920s. They provide real estate brokerage and rentals in residential, commercial and resort sales.

The office's include: Edith Dantagnan, president; Maggie Dantagnan Hayden, vice-president and broker; Joyce Bowers, broker associate; sales associates Edith Tabor, Charles Melson, Betsy Phillips and C. Marie Zwart; Deidre Barnett, secretary; and Mary Benjamin, bookkeeper.

Dantagnan Realty, Inc., has a long history of real estate in Hancock County. Its founder, Adolph G. Dantagnan, sold lots in Clermont Harbor during its development in the 1920's. At that time, prospective purchasers were brought from New Orleans by train, shown lots and given dinner at a boarding house before returning home.

After many years experience as a specialist in commercial properties with Waguespack, Pratt, Mr. Dantagnan started a small agency in Clermont Harbor in 1946. He moved to Washington Street after the 1947 hurricane and "Mrs. Dan" joined him in business. Their office was a familiar site across from the Courthouse for many years until they moved to their current location on Highway 90 near the Bay bridge.

There are presently six full-time associates who are knowledgeable of the area and all facets of the real estate industry. They are active in civic affairs and professional organizations such as West Gulf Coast Board of Realtors, Multiple Listing Service and Women's Council of Realtors.

They may be reached at 467-4449.

Alarm Protection Service

Alarm Protection Service provides fire security systems, closed circuit televisions and medical alerts.

With two locations, the company has provided its services to the community since 1980 from New Orleans and since 1983 from Waveland. They have continued to grow and now have 32 employees.

In 1988, they were chosen by AT&T to market their new security system 8000. This year an alarm manufacturing company, Radionics, decided to private label a security alarm system for their company because of their sales, quality service department and company from their office.

Their logo is imprinted on every alarm they install. With their own computerized central station, they can monitor and service installed alarm systems

The employees include: Jay Fleuriot, Rachel Fleuriot, Gary Edwards, James Scott and Jackie Odom. They may be reached at 467-7846.

Coast Episcopal Computer Education

Coast Episcopal High School has expanded its Computer Education Center to not only meet the needs of its junior high and senior high school students, but also to meet the needs of adults in the community.

Under the direction of Dr. Bill Jenkins, CEHS now offers classes for anyone interested in learning about basic computers, specific software and for keeping abreast of the latest news and trends in the world of computers. The Computer Education Center now meets the needs of beginners and experienced computer users.

Dr. Jenkins, who wrote his doctoral dissertation on the use of database management, has over 12 years experience as a computer consultant and educator.

Through Dr. Jenkins' expertise, CEHS Computer Education Center has acquired the latest equipment, software, and curriculum available. CEHS is only the second high school in America to use Hypergraphics as a tool for teaching students the use of computers.

Several different programs are being offered this summer through the Computer Education Center. Micro-Versity is an intensive one week course offering Introduction to Computers and DOS, Lotus 1-2-3, WordPerfect, and dBASE III Plus.

Other programs being offered are Micro Productivity Seminars which last 6 hours and are offered on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings. Some of the seminars being offered are Computer Money Management, Harvard Graphics, Roots III, FormTool, and Aldus Page Maker.

Another program being offered, microLaser Publishing, is Coast Episcopal's own in-house publishing center. This program combines the use of desktop publishing with laser printing, image scanning, and soft and hardcover binding. This course is offered usually 3 or 4 times a year.

Dr. Jenkins is available for an on site training and for consultation on purchasing equipment and software.

For more information on any of the programs offered by the Coast Episcopal High School Computer Education Center call (602-9442).

Wal-Mart

Wal-Mart, located 454 Highway 90, Waveland, provides discount retail for the community.

The branch officers include: Joey Vick, manager; Johnny

Fowler, Doug Prewitt and Emmett Ashby, assistant managers; and Arleen Sanchez, training coordinator, personnel and advertising.

The first Wal-Mart Discount

City opened in Rogers, Arkansas, in 1962. Before 1962, Sam and Bud Walton, the company's founders, operated a successful group of Ben Franklin variety stores.

Sam and Bud Walton believed that smaller communities deserved and would support the opportunity to purchase a broad assortment of merchandise at everyday low discount prices.

At that time, however, other discounters were focusing only on large metropolitan areas. The Walton's customers' response and support in those smaller communities provided the basis for the Wal-Mart, of today.

Since 1970 when the first public sale of Wal-Mart stock took place, the Company has experienced steady and sustained growth. Wal-Mart's trade territory today stretches across the Midwest, Southwest and Southeast.

They are expanding out to the West, North and Northeast. As of April 1989, the company had over 1300 Wal-Mart stores.

In 1988, approximately 225,000 associates sold over 20 billion dollars of merchandise. The widespread acceptance of Wal-Mart by their customers is evident by their sales growth and expansion.

NASA'S TEST SITE AT JOHN C. STENNIS SPACE CENTER

In 1963 the Port and Harbor Commission was established to promote economic development for the County. We have played a vital role in creating jobs and investment for the Community. These factors have and will continue to contribute to the future growth of Hancock County.

Our industrial parks, Stennis and Port Bienville, offer a wide variety of services that have made it very attractive to prospective new industry. SSC, located in Hancock County, has created hundreds of jobs over the last three decades.

To sum it up, "Hancock County is a great place to live and work."

PORT & HARBOR

BRINGING JOBS TO HANCOCK COUNTY

By BUZ OLSEN-EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR,
THE PORT & HARBOR COMMISSION,
& THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

One of the main priorities of this office is to create new jobs with new industry and assist in retaining existing jobs created by the industries which are presently located here.

We must show that we are responsible to their needs. It is important to remember that a significant percentage of new jobs created in this day and time are created through the expansion of an existing industry. Therefore, we must be attentive to their needs and responsive to their problems.

In seeking new industry locations we must reflect a diversity of labor skills and a quality of life that will attract industry to our area. This can not be a single effort that is the total responsibility of the commission. It also must include the community as a whole.

This means forming a coalition of community leaders that reflects an upbeat image of the area. How we perceive our image is reflected in the leadership qualities of the community.

Our attitude towards encouraging a quality labor force, higher education, and community participation will be reflected by our actions and attitudes as seen by industry leaders.

Presently, Hancock County is on the threshold of a new era. The high tech industry has now entered the picture. We may attribute the credit to Stennis Space Center for this outgrowth of activity.

The factors for this development to happen are in place. What we need to do as developers is to concentrate on encouraging the continued expansion of high tech programs at Stennis Space Center and support the transfer of this technology to the private sector.

The factors for this development to happen are in place. What we need to do as developers is to concentrate on encouraging the continued expansion of high tech programs at Stennis Space Center and support the transfer of this technology to the private sector.

It has been noted in recent publications that a significant number of such enterprises has already expanded fast enough to become a major source of job creation in the nation.

However, if we are to attract and keep this high tech development in our area we must be prepared to provide a highly educated labor force and a locale offering a style of life that will keep them from wanting to leave.

The continuing role of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission will be to promote the economy of the county, attract industry and provide employment. However, to continue this role we will need the support and encouragement of the community, political and business leaders in our county.

IN TOUCH WITH THE WORLD

In recent years an influx of foreign investment has entered our country. As a result we find countries, such as Taiwan and Japan entering into Mississippi and finding a home. The Port and Harbor Commission will play a major role in soliciting foreign investment into our Country. We have recently had, from both the Republic of China and Japan, interest in acquisitions of existing companies and new starts. The range of industries are petro-chemical high tech. We are continuing a dialogue which we hope will reap some benefits for our Country in the very near future.

OR COMMISSION

Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission's main office is located at 706 Highway 90, in Waveland.

The commission was established in 1963 in order to help provide economic development in the area.

The staff includes Harlod "Buz" Olsen, executive director; Paulette Fernandez, administrative assistant; Janice Pucheu, bookkeeper; Rose Marie Ginn, receptionist; Odie J. Ladner, field superintendent and railroad administrator;

Warren Garcia, R. L. Watkins and Al Smith, field crew; Roy Taylor, Daris Whitfield, Butch Walton and Bill Watkins, railroad crew.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission was created pursuant to House Bill No. 435 of the Regular 1962 Legislative Session of the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, approved June 1, 1962.

The first official meeting was held March 20, 1963.

Members of the Commission are appointed as follows: two members are appointed by the governor, one from each of the two municipalities of said county; five members by the Board of Supervisors, each supervisor to recommend the appointment of one member.

The Port and Harbor Commission has under its jurisdiction Port Bienville Industrial Park, Stennis International Airport & Airpark and Bayou Cadet Marina. The Port Bienville Industrial Park has been developed on 2,400 acres of land acquired by Hancock County.

The present Board of Commissioners, Ronald Artigues, president, Oliver Frierson, vice president, Nancy Gex, secretary, David McDonald, treasurer; Omer DeBever, Russell Elliott and Walter "Pete" Beebe are members.

Members are continually working with industrial prospects for Port Bienville Industrial Park and Stennis Industrial Airpark.

Rainbows and Rain

Every once in a while, the power of Mother Nature comes in the shape of a storm and interrupts your electric power.

We do our best to restore your electric service as soon as possible, working first on situations where human life is endangered, such as downed power lines, or where we have consumers who need electricity for life-support systems. Next, we concentrate on areas affecting the greatest numbers of people, and then we work to restore power to remaining individual homes or businesses.

It's easier for you to "weather the storm" if you keep a flashlight and extra batteries handy...and a battery-powered radio, as we try our best to stay in touch. Remember your food will keep at least 24 hours if you avoid opening refrigerator and freezer doors except when absolutely necessary.

And...keep trying to reach us, especially if you see downed power lines or other dangers. You are our "eyes and ears," and while we truly regret any inconvenience, if we work together, we can enjoy the rainbow after the rain.

Their clothing sizes range from infant to preteen girls and infant boys through size 20. They sell better sportswear for boys and girls throughout their school years and emphasize all natural fibers, which are easy-care and also have long wearability.

What once started out as a small apparel store for children has grown to include school uniforms for Coast Episcopal, soccer gear including shoes and shin guards, ballet apparel and shoes by Capezio.

The store is owned by Nancy Uram and managed by Anne Truett Mann. Barbara Baltar is sales clerk.

They can be reached at 467-6786.

Taxes a key to promoting business expansion

BY TRACI BONNEY
How do you promote business expansion?
Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward A. "Eddie" Favre said the City of Bay St. Louis is doing it by working to stabilize the city's tax revenues, among other things.

"We're doing this by making our operations more efficient and eliminating the need to raise taxes," he said.

The city also is checking into its zoning ordinance and maps, to see if rezoning is needed to encourage business.

"We're also working to start a local development advisory board, not in competition with the Port and Harbor Commission or the Chamber of Commerce, to help us go after the businesses we want here."
Other measures include the city's current cleanup program.

"We're just trying to get back to the basics," Favre said, "cleaning up the town, taking care of people's needs."
Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. said the city's low taxes are one of its biggest drawing cards for business.

"Our taxes are the lowest in the United States, I think," he remarked.
The City of Waveland levies a tax of 13.5 mills at this time, but Longo said it may go down to 10.5 mills next year, when the city finishes paying its debts from Hurricane Camille.

"The board of aldermen has to decide that, but that will be my recommendation, to take off those three mills," he said.

Keeping taxes low brings in businesses, which expands the economic tax base, Longo explained.

"If we expand our economic tax base throughout the city, the system will sustain itself through sales taxes."

Longo said Waveland has gone over the years from being the 285th municipality in the state in tax revenues to 44th in the state.

"Only the biggest municipalities in the state are ahead of us."

In local terms this means Waveland has increased its revenues from $2,000 a year 15 years ago to $750,000 a year last year.

People working, but not spending

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Unemployment in Hancock County, at 4.7 percent, is lower than the national average (5.2 percent) or state average (6.7 percent) as of April 1990.

However, residents are spending less money in Bay St. Louis, where sales tax collections recorded to date are down approximately $25,000 from fiscal year 1989. The fiscal year runs from July to June.

In Waveland, on the other hand, 1990 sales tax collections to date are up approximately $40,000 over 1989. The May and June collections are usually healthy as activity begins to pick up for the summer season.

Peterman's Lil Super Foodstore

Peterman's Lil Super Foodstore, located 315 Coleman Ave., Waveland, has been serving the community since 1970. Fred and Pearl Peterman purchased the building from G.T. Moreau and added the liquor store and laundramat.

Their daughters Melanie Deluze and Dana Peterman work with them.

The grocery store is equipped with boiled seafood, a deli and a sandwich shop. They can be reached at 467-7061.

Court Street Cuisine serves only the freshest meat, veggies and fruits, prepared daily. They change the menu to reflect the seasonal footstuffs. All of the herbs used in the kitchen are grown right on the premises and the spices are gathered from around the world. Court Street Cuisine's phone number is 467-0505.

Hair Port

Hair Port, located 2056 Waveland Ave. in Our Shopping Center, has been serving the needs of the community since 1977.

They offer family hairstyles, facials, wax hair removal and a tanning salon.

Donna Harville Getman, owner and stylist, said they continue their staff education on the latest in styles, fashions and trends.

She said, "We are proud to be a part of Waveland's growth and Hancock County's future."

Hair Port may be reached at 467-9752.

Roland: Interest in Hancock County high

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce executive director Olivia Roland reports a great number of people in recent months inquiring about the area and considering Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and especially Diamondhead, for permanent residence.

"Many people moving to the Coast and employed at the John C. Stennis Space Center find Diamondhead particularly appealing with all of the amenities available, combined with access to I-10," said Roland.

"Hancock County offers the lure of living next to the water, with boating and fishing activities accessible," she said.

The Chamber will have ready in July "hospitality packets" for newcomers. The packets are being assembled by members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program and will include offers and free gifts from many local businesses.

As for vacationers' dollars translating into local sales tax revenue, Roland points to Buccaneer Park in Waveland as a tremendous asset.

It is one of the most popular state parks with campers and the "Wave Pool", an olympic-size swimming pool with simulated wave action, as a favorite attraction.

Coast-Lane Motors Inc.

Coast-Lane Motors Inc., located Highway 90, Bay St. Louis is an authorized dealership for General Motors cars and trucks, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Buicks, GMC and Chevrolet trucks.

In addition, they offer complete automobile service, body shop and handle all General Motors parts.

The owners are Harmon Turan and Gerry Lane.

The staff includes: Dave Sloan, sales manager; Bill Rivenbark, service manager; Ray Acosta, parts manager; Jody Nightengale, office manager; and Neal Gatian, body shop manager.

In 1966, Gerry Lane purchased Gulf Chevrolet from A.B. Tipping. In 1971, Harmon Turan bought an interest in the dealership and operated it under the name of Turan-Lane Chevrolet until 1983.

At that time, they purchased Jay-Jay Chevrolet Buick in Gulfport. Coast-Lane was previously operated under the names of Frank Hille and Mike Witte with Turan.

Turan, being the major stockholder, in April 1989, returned as full time dealer and operator.

Jolly Rogers Printing

Jolly Rogers Printing, established in 1986, has become more than just an offset quick print shop.

While basically still an offset print shop handling forms, raffle tickets, business cards, fliers, etc., Jolly Rogers has responded to the needs of the community and become a UPS Shipping Outlet and Packaging Center. Recently they began handling American Express MoneyGram Service, a worldwide money transfer service.

They have stayed in the forefront of technological advances in printing. Using technology to increase speed of service and cost effectiveness prompted them to begin a FAX service.

They use IBM Desktop Publishing with a Post Script Lazer Printer. Customers are able to compose their resumes, brochures and longer documents, then Jolly Rogers can read the information on disk and assign the typestyle and format.

Jolly Rogers printed the award-winning Diamondhead and Bay-Waveland Garden Club books. In a recent political race, they provided printing services for seven of the eight candidates.

Located at 837 Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis, the store is managed by Aggie Tompkins and Honey Bear (Hope) Toal handles the front desk. They may be reached at 467-5895.

Gateway Body & Paint

Gateway Body & Paint, located at 1002 Old Spanish Trail in Waveland, has been in business since 1983.

They offer complete automotive body repair and painting, specializing in quality collision and frame repairs. They also provide vinyl tops, headliners, body side mouldings, pin stripping, installation of autoglass and clean and detail all repaired vehicles.

Owners are Wes and Kathy Ziegler with Eric Kinard as assistant manager and collision repairman. Charles LaFontaine is the collision repairman and Bruce Procopus and Stanley Durning operate the paint prep and detail department.

The installation of a Chief E-Z Liner II frame machine and Chief frame alignment gauging system provide the assurance of factory specification. A Viking commercial spray booth has been installed for a clean professional paint finish.

They also invested in an I-Car training program, along with a video training system which allow the employees to keep up to date with repair techniques and new vehicle repair procedures.

The telephone number is 467-2648.

Viator's Corner Market

Viator's Corner Market, located at 1139 Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis, was formerly known as Compretta's Market until the Viators took over in September of 1989.

They serve fresh cut luncheon meats, ice cold Barq's root beer, snowballs, sandwiches, snacks and hamburgers. They strive to "keep the community tradition alive on Old Spanish Trail with good service and products at a reasonable price," said the owners.

The owners are Durenda and Ricky Viator and the staff members are Paulette Peterson and Shawn Ladner. They can be reached at 467-8285.

The Unique Shop

The Unique Shop, located at 912 Highway 90, is embarking on its ninth year of business.

The shop is equipped with a complete line of floral supplies, offering arrangements for the home or for weddings. They also have religious items and hand-crafted made to order by Madonna Boos, owner. Her saleslady is Mary Perry.

They will be more than happy to give free help and advice for anyone planning a wedding or arranging silk flowers. The telephone number is 467-0649.

Gary's Radiator Service

Gary's Radiator Service, located at 301 S. Toulme in Bay St. Louis, is owned by Gary and Sue Ponthieux.

As they move into their fourth year of business, they provide complete radiator and heater repair. They also offer new radiators and heaters and a line of rebuilt radiators.

Gary and Sue have two children, Gary Jr., a senior at St. Stanislaus, and Melissa, a fifth grader at Bay Catholic Elementary. They are members of the St. Stanislaus parent leadership team, the SSC Sideline Club, the Waveland Civic Association, and members of the Chamber of Commerce for the past four years.

They can be reached at 467-4183.

Auto World Auto Care Center, located Highway 90 at the Bay St. Louis/Waveland city line, offers automotive and truck parts and service.

Their new Wholesale Battery Outlet is now experiencing the greatest rate of growth. They provide automotive, marine and industrial batteries at wholesale prices to the consumer.

"The tremendous growth in battery sales is certainly understandable," says Auto World owner Jim Henrie.

"When you consider that the Wholesale Battery Outlet is the only wholesale-to-consumer battery store on the Coast, it's open everyday, you can save 30% off retail, sometimes more, why would anyone go anywhere else?" Henrie added.

Other changes at Auto World, in business since 1976, include the availability of three new auto parts warehouse suppliers that are open every day of the week to better serve the customer.

Included at the Auto World complex is the area's newest 10-minute oil change and computerized tune-up facility, Performance Oil Change and Tune-Up at Auto World, owned and operated by Keith Ory, Monday through Saturday.

Capable of accommodating four vehicles simultaneously, Performance offers the latest equipment and finest premium oils and products available to the motoring public.

Located next to the auto parts store is the Muffler Shop at Auto World, owned and operated by Brian Wilkerson, offering services ranging from basic muffler replacement to custom exhaust work Monday through Saturday.

The Mechanic Shop at Auto World is also available to satisfy auto and truck needs. Specializing in brake work, the Mechanic Shop can satisfy other mechanical problems as well.

Additionally, Bay Custom Body and Paint at Auto World, operated by John Edgecombe, is located on the premises providing professional auto body repair and painting services. As times change, so does the art of doing business, and the Auto World Auto Care Center has adapted to meet the changing needs of the motoring public. They may be reached at 467-9045.

Hancock Medical Center

Hancock Medical Center, located at 149 Drinkwater Blvd., was established in 1960 under the name of Hancock General Hospital, which replaced the outdated Kings-Daughter Hospital.

Built with Hill-Burton funds, it was originally a 36 bed facility, but was increased to 56 beds in 1964.

In late 1980, a four bed intensive care unit was established.

Expansion to the emergency room occurred in 1982, with the addition of four full-time emergency medicine physicians.

The hospital moved into its newly constructed building in February of 1987, and has greatly improved its services since that time. This replacement facility has more than 55,000 square feet of useable space and 60 acute care beds.

Hancock Medical Center has more than 25 active physicians on staff who practice a wide range of medical specialties. As a full service medical facility, Hancock Medical Center offers complete laboratory facilities and pharmacy, cardiopulmonary, physical therapy, dietary, respiratory therapy and radiology departments.

Medical services include care units, surgery suites, outpatient surgery, nursery, dialysis unit and complete emergency department services.

GE Plastics

GE Plastics, located in Port Bienville Industrial Park in Pearlinton, was constructed in 1981 to produce SAN (Styreneacrylonitrile) resins for use in manufacturing ABS "Cyclocac." These plastic resins are used in literally thousands of applications including refrigerator liners, automobile parts, appliances, computer housings and telephone casings.

GE Plastics, a division of General Electric Company, presently has sites spanning five continents. Their present dollar investment in the Hancock County facility is $120 million. Originally, two production lines were in operation, and in 1985, the plant underwent an expansion to add a third line due to increased capacity needs. GE Plastics and Huntsman Chemical Corporation recently announced a new joint venture to be based at the Port Bienville facility.

This venture will expand the SAN facility by adding two more lines and increasing the plant's production by more than 50%. It will also increase the dollar investment in Hancock County to over $170 million. Construction activities for this expansion are anticipated to begin in July of this year, with anticipated completion about April of 1991. The target date for start-up activities is the third quarter 1991.

Kenneth G. Woodring manages the plant. The main number is 467-8210.

For Over 88 Years and Four Generations

John B. Adams
OUR FOUNDER

W. F. Adams Sr.

W. F. (Bill) Adams

D. Howard Adams

John Adams

The name ADAMS has long been associated with flowers for 88 years on the Gulf Coast, so when people think of flowers, they just naturally think of ADAMS.

In 1902, John Bavin Adams, who was employed by the railroad, established a small nursery and flower business in Pass Christian. His passion and talent for raising and growing flowers soon brought on the desire to give up railroad and go into the flower business.

On August 27, 1916, Lena Loraine Robinson married William F. Adams, Sr. (one of J.B. Adams' sons). They worked in the business until 1926, when they established their own flower shop and acquired the greenhouses started by his father. J.B. Adams and Sons Nursery became...

ADAMS' LORAIN FLOWER SHOP

The business has expanded. Bill and Lena Florence have shops in Gulfport and Biloxi. D. Howard and Nancy Adams have ADAMS' LORAIN FLOWER SHOPS, Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian, since 1948. They also have a wholesale division in Pass Christian.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Adams, Sr. have passed away. Now we have the fourth generation of ADAMS'. John Robin and Ginger Adams serve the many customers we are privileged to have along the Gulf Coast. They have both recently been certified as "Master Designers" by Florists' Transworld Delivery Association (FTD). In early March, a new store was opened known as Loraine Flower Market, located in #1 Hancock Plaza in Gulfport. This European style store deals primarily with green plants and loose cut flowers. Great-grandfather J.B. Adams would be proud to know the legacy he started.

They provide signs of all kinds, ranging from car magnetics, window signs, large outdoor displays, and direct application to automobiles, trucks and vans. They also offer quantity screen painting and street signs.

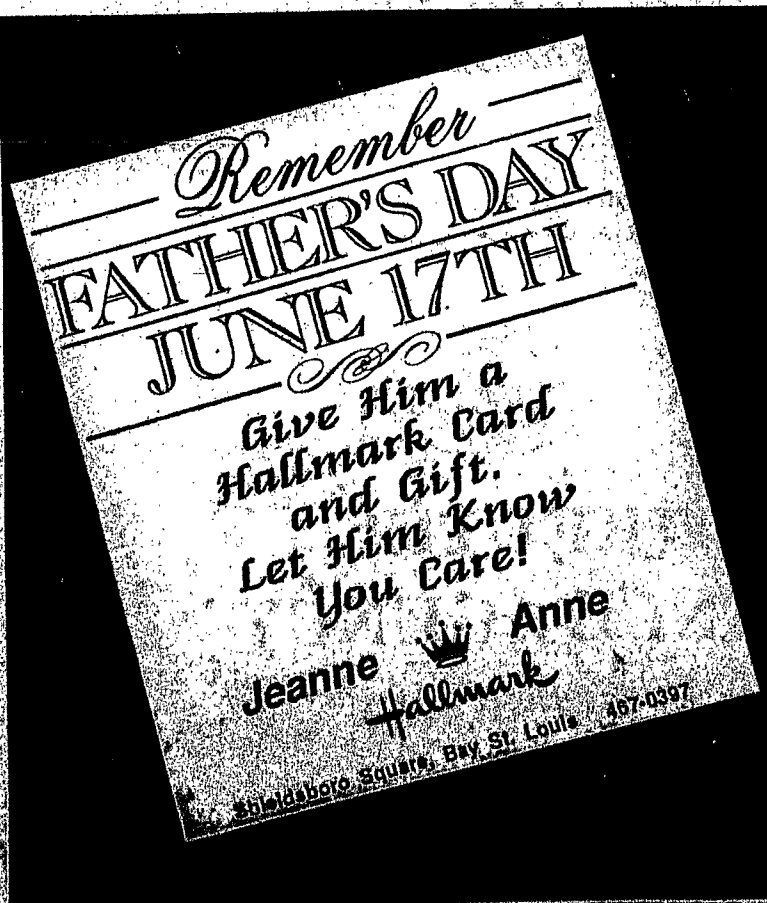

They can design in neon, formed lettering and, in general, any type and size of sign needed.

They specialize in computer enhanced graphic signs which are designed originally or from logos matched from existing designs. The most modern computerized system allows reduction or enlargement of any design from inches to feet in minutes. They use high quality, out door vinyl materials on their signs that can last for years without flaking, fading or peeling.

The company was established by Dix Ashman and the Ashman family presently controls the business.

The telephone number is 467-3934 and their FAX number is 601-467-3934.

It all started with $8,277.41

Ninety years ago, on October 9, 1900, 19 local businessmen sat down to organize a bank. They saw a need for a bank that would be willing to put faith in the individual.

One to work side by side with local families to help the young Gulf Coast grow.

So, with one small frame building and deposits of $8,277.41, they founded Hancock Bank. And through the years, as your banking needs have grown, we've grown right along with you.

We're Hancock Bank. The only bank you'll ever need.

Southern Elegance Cruise Lines

Southern Elegance Cruise Lines is located at 1205 12th Ave. in Gulfport. Their ship is docked at the Port of Gulfport.

They offer day and evening cruises featuring two live bands, fine dining from a gourmet menu, disco, and have adult and children's cruise directors. They also provide a jacuzzi, two decks for sunning, an upper casino with blackjack, craps, roulette and Caribbean poker.

The lower casino features 106 slot machines from 25 cents to 5 dollars. The ship is also equipped with a gift shop, bingo, horseracing and video games.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Maulden, began sailing summers in Panama City, Florida and winters in Port Manatee, Florida. They moved permanently to Gulfport in 1990 to sail year round and began their cruise line in March of 1990.

Reservations can be made by calling, 864-6333, or through the ship telephone, 1-800-441-SHIP(7447). The business office telephone number is 864-4005.

Dr. John E. Hanson, Optometrist

Dr. John E. Hanson's office is located at 311 Shieldsboro Square in Bay St. Louis. Dr. Hanson began his practice here in 1983.

They offer a full range of optometric services including eye examinations, contact lenses and eye glasses. The staff includes: Dr. Hanson, optometrist; Anna Munson, optician; and Rhonda Harper, receptionist.

Dr. Hanson graduated from the University of Houston after completing an eight year program in 1983. In 1986 they added an in-office eyeglass laboratory for quicker services. Optician, Anna Munson, was added to the staff in 1988. Dr. Hanson's phone number is 467-1020.

Riemann Funeral Home

The Riemann family purchased the Fahey-Whitfield Funeral Home in 1961 and since has built the first facility in Hancock County designed specifically as a funeral home. In 1987, they opened the county's only crematory.

Riemann Funeral home provides funeral services, pre-arrangement of funeral services, funeral insurance, cremation services, cemetery plots and markers.

The officers include: David F. Riemann, president; Mrs. Patricia Mauffray Harvill, Director of Operations; Mrs. Alice Maness, secretary/receptionist; Mrs. Vivian Tate, Grief Therapist; and Mr. Larry J. Koenenn, Insurance Representative.

The Riemann Funeral home began operations in 1961 and now are in their third generation of funeral direction. Their dedication and compassion has helped them to become the largest funeral service on the Gulf Coast.

Garcia's Grocery

Garcia's Grocery, located 6143 Railroad Ave. in Clermont Harbor, was recently featured in "Mississippi Coast" magazine.

Established in 1943, they offer a variety of groceries, gas, ice, fishing equipment, and some plumbing and hardware items. They display an extensive antique collection of hand tools from all over the country.

The store was established by Albert and Eva Garcia and is currently run by Myrtis Broussard. It is a family business that serves the Clermont Harbor community.

Broussard said, "Garcia's has been the information center and a gathering place since it opened." The store can be reached at 467-4964.

ATS, Inc.

ATS, Inc., located at 1223 Pass Road, Gulfport, enters its seventh year of business.

They offer sale, installation and repair of telephones and security alarm systems for the Gulf Coast area.

The owners, Tom and Bonnie Hayward, began the business as a one-man operation and have developed into a business with twelve staff members.

They also give free security surveys. They may be reached toll free at 868-7552.
